

A more realistic growth projection would be about 4 %, slightly lower than that achieved in the previous year. The economy of Afghanistan is projected to grow by 6. 5 % in 2013, assuming normal weather conditions and agricultural production. Industrial growth may be boosted by improved electricity supplies.