

It then provides a review of the valuation literature on marine protected areas, drawing on studies from around the world. It concludes with a brief overview on how cost-benefit analysis can be used to inform MPA decision making. This information allows decision makers to evaluate the net economic benefits to society from investing in an MPA.